Innovation Transfer Network URBACT DARING Cities

Programme URBACT IV

Project To DARING Cities, is a network led by the Municipality of Ravenna, dedicated to Digital and real alliances for urban regeneration, cities that innovate and prosper through networking to adapt and prepare cities for the transfer of projects developed and implemented under the Urban Innovative Actions.

Role of the Municipality of Piraeus

Piraeus leads the way in Urban Innovation

The Municipality of Piraeus and specifically the Development Organization (Piraeus Plus) will participate as a partner of the project DARING Cities - Digital and real Alliances for urban Regeneration, an ambitious programme implemented under URBACT IV and aims at the transfer and implementation of innovative urban policy practices.

DARING Cities - Digital and real Alliances for urban Regeneration aims to replicate and extend these successful approaches by transferring innovative tools, implementing pilot actions, promoting innovative digital practices, and adapting the proven strategies of DARING Cities to a wider European context.

As lead partner, Ravenna will work with cities such as Piraeus (Greece), Olomouc (Czech Republic), Kolding (Denmark), Kragujevac (Serbia), Dunaújváros (Hungary), Altea (ES) .Together, the cities will work to replicate and adapt the strategies tested in Ravenna, focusing on Digital and Real Alliances for Urban Revitalization of Cities.

The project will use the URBACT methodology and tools for effective knowledge transfer and cooperation between cities.
